Vanhooydonck, B. & Van Damme, R. 2001. Evolutionary trade-offs in locomotor capacities in lacertid lizards: are splendid sprinters clumsy climbers? J. Evol. Biol. 14: 46–54.

Unfortunately, in the above paper, an incorrect version of Figure 2 was printed. The correct version is reproduced below. The publishers would like to apologise for any confusion this may have caused.

Fig. 2 Relationships among the three performance variables (sprinting, clambering and climbing speed). On the left: residuals of logarithmically transformed means per species. The point labels refer to the species (first letter of genus and species name). On the right: residuals of the phylogenetically independent contrasts.
